Learning from Anywhere

Expanding educational course access beyond the classroom

Access to education fuels opportunity. For students and professionals alike, such opportunities should never be jeopardized by distance. Combining the powerful ConferenceManager™ with our dynamic operator software, Compunetix Distance Learning delivers a robust solution for schools, universities, and corporations looking to provide instant, reliable access to lectures, seminars and training sessions through virtual and telephonic channels.

Addressing the Class

At any time, connected participants can signal the session moderator by remotely “raising their hand.” These participants are automatically queued for moderator acknowledgment.

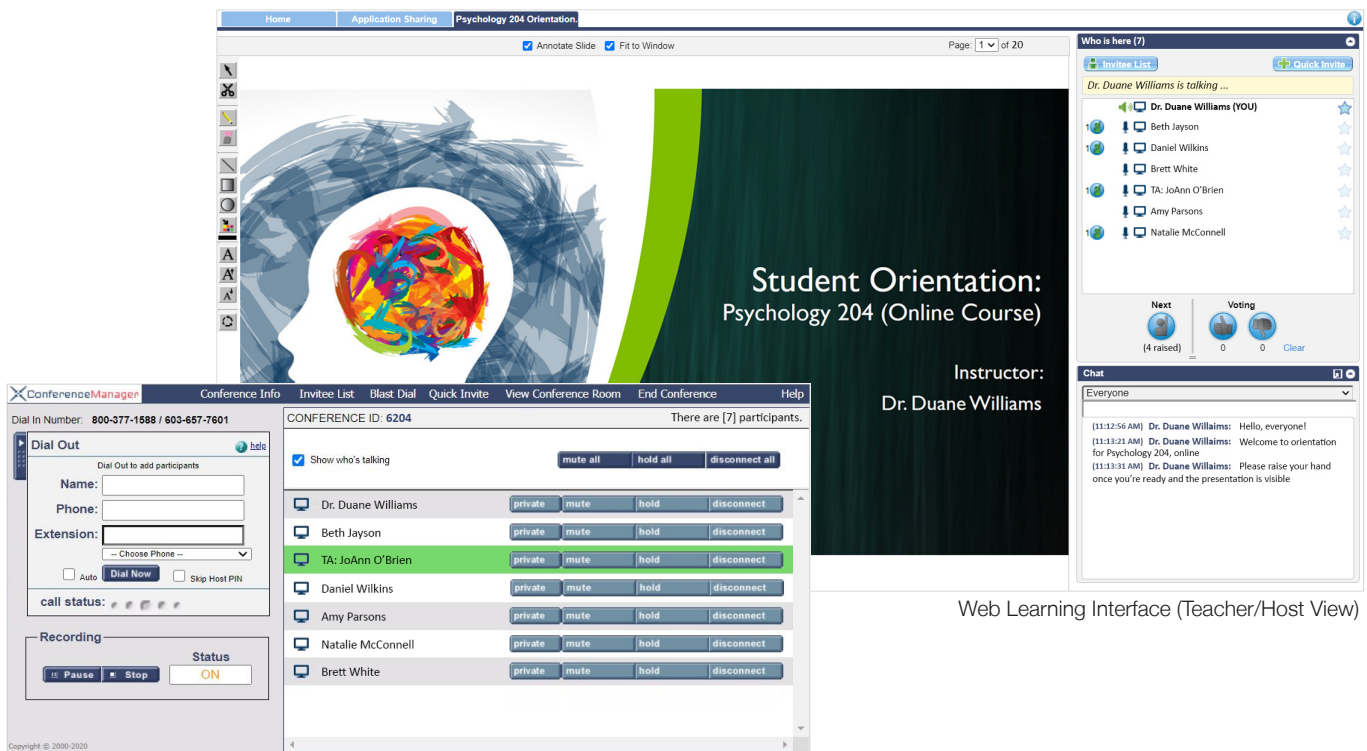

Live Break-Out Sessions

Attendees can be divided into private sub-conferences for group work or discussions. There is support for up to ten sub-conferences off of the main audio call.
